

FALL DEFENSE HITS FINNEY

Former Secretary's Lawyer Turns Guns on Teapot Dome Lease

Gets in First Licks in Effort to Clear One-time Cabinet Member of Charges of Granting "Fraudulently and Secretly" Oil Reserve to H. F. Sinclair.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT ASSISTANT ALLEGES CHIEF CLAMPED DOWN LID

Accused Man Declares he Has Not Definitely Decided Whether he Will Take Stand in His Own Defense, But Says he Wants to "Explain Lot of Things."

By George E. Durno.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Fall-Sinclair defense got in its first licks today in efforts to clear Ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall of charges of leasing "fraudulently and secretly" the Teapot Naval Oil Reserve to Harry F. Sinclair.

The attempt was made through cross examination testimony of E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of interior. Finney had testified that he knew nothing of the lease until after it had been executed by Fall, and that Fall gave orders that no information on the lease should be given out.

Finney was turned over to George P. Hoover, Sinclair counsel, after brief direct examination by Owen J. Roberts, of the government staff.

Recital of Leasing Laws.

Before today's session opened Fall declared that he had not decided definitely whether he would take the stand in his own defense. He said yesterday he would go on the stand and "explain a lot of things that haven't been explained."

Finney's testimony started off with a drab recital on general leasing laws, and the jury became restless. They paid but scant attention to Hoover and Finney and seemed more intent in watching the two defendants. Fall, smiling, engaged for a time in an animated conversation with his lawyers. He appeared in better spirits than any day since the trial started.

Sinclair, mute, stern-faced, followed the proceedings closely.

The feeling between Roberts and Hoover which already has resulted in so many heated rows was not abated overnight and they again clashed frequently over testimony Hoover sought to worm out of Finney.

The defense won a point when Hoover drew from Finney an admission that it was the accepted policy of the interior department, under the leasing acts, to handle all naval oil reserve leases whenever applications for permits or patents were pending. Hoover got this in the record over the repeated objections of the government. It is the government's contention that the interior was without authority to make reserve leases.

When Japanese Swim.
An Egg for Babe Ruth.
Fidelity? What Kind?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

JAPAN prepares a flight from Tokyo to Seattle and mark this: IF THE JAPANESE START FOR SEATTLE, THEY WILL FLY TO SEATTLE. They are thorough.

HAVE you ever seen sailors of Japan's navy swimming? Led by an officer they swim, in wedge shape formation, each man keeping his proper place in the water, all keeping time with even strokes, as in marching. And thus they swim, in the ocean, 20 miles at a time. Men of that sort will fly the Pacific, if they undertake to fly it.

AT Omaha, Babe Ruth received, as token of his greatness, an egg laid by Lady Norfolk, champion hen of the world.

It was the one hundred and seventh egg laid or hatched out by that hen, in 170 days. Ruth remarked: "A hen's egg by the river's brim, a simple hen's egg was to him, and nothing more," and went on with his batting. It would surprise the idol of America to know that such a hen as Lady Norfolk is more important to the country than all its baseball players.

MRS. ELINOR GLYN, who usually knows more about the human heart than the heart knows about itself, says physical fidelity is necessary in marriage.

The true woman requires, says she, "only mental and physical fidelity." Police court records do not support that theory. Marriage was designed to make men take care of their children and to make husbands more civilized through self-control.

Some mysterious wisdom tells wives that mere mental and physical fidelity is not sufficient insurance for children, or mother.

THE American Federation of Labor favors a five-day week, giving the worker two days out of seven.

Russia's government, exercising all powers, establishes a seven-hour day, a long step from the serf slavery of old Russia.

Henry Ford, who started the five-day week, wants now to have one day in which to spend what they earn in five days. Spending is as important to the country as earnings, says Ford.

THE value to workers of a seven-hour day, or five-day week, depends on what they do with the extra day or hour of freedom.

If they read and think more, they will go ahead. If not, they will stay in the same place, but in any case, the greater leisure will improve their health. That will make a better next generation, inclined to thought.

DANIEL RUPERT, UNITY FARMER, HANGS HIMSELF

Suicide Verdict is Returned by Coroner Van Fossan.

VICTIM AGED 63

Family Denies Man Had Financial Worries or Ill Health.

A verdict of "death by hanging" was returned today by Coroner Dr. J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, at an inquest over the body of Daniel Rupert, 63, Unity township farmer, whose body was found in a barn at his home near East Springfield, five miles north of East Palestine. No reason for the suicide could be assigned by members of Rupert's family, who denied that he had financial worries or ill health.

Rupert went to the barn to feed the stock and when he failed to return several hours later members of his family instituted a search. The body, with a rope around the neck, was found dangling from a rafter in the hay mow. He had been dead about an hour.

The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rupert. He was born in October, 1863. He was a member of the Lutheran church.

Rupert is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Rupert; two sons, Clarence H. and Morgan P. Rupert of New Springfield and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Emmanuel Kibler, Mrs. Daniel Emmerson and Alice Rupert, New Waterford; Mrs. Joseph Macklin, Unity township; Walker Rupert; Hubbard and James Rupert, Columbiana.

Funeral services were conducted in his home this afternoon in charge of Rev. Mr. Probst, pastor of the Lutheran church. Burial was made in the New Springfield cemetery.

More than 100 persons attended the affair, about half of them taking part in the bee. Refreshments were served.

Coolidge Stands Pat On His 'Do Not Choc.

Through Senator Fess, President Delivers Verbal Spanking to Supporters Who Refuse to Accept at Face Value Decision Against Race in 1928.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge administered a verbal spanking today to those of his ardent supporters who have refused to accept at its face value his famous "I do not choose to run" announcement. It was delivered through Senator Simeon Fess (R.) of Ohio, who has been one of the most vocal of the Coolidge partisans in whipping up sentiment to have the next Republican national convention draft the president.

After a conference with Mr. Coolidge at the White House this morning Fess emerged from the presidential office and said:

"I've been called down." Fess had reference to the speeches he has been making in various parts of the country in which he has assured audiences that Mr. Coolidge will be the candidate despite his not choosing to run.

"If the president has his own way," said the Ohio senator, "he will not be nominated."

"Does that mean he is opposed to being drafted?" the administration spokesman was asked.

"If you had heard what the president said you would have so interpreted it," was the reply.

Akron Youth Held for Shooting.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.—Charles Euan, 24, 221 Westwood avenue, Akron is being held in city jail here today for Akron authorities. He was arrested early this morning at the residence of Akron police, who say he is charged with shooting with intent to kill.

Charge Immunity Bath.

According to Attorney Elston, the purpose of taking depositions from Sargent and others in Washington is to have advantage of the information gathered by Tom Wilcox, agent in charge of the Detroit office of the department of justice during the government's investigation of the activities of Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., former ace of the department of justice, and Imogene Remus.

Attorney Elston hopes to secure the acquittal of Remus if permitted to use the information contained in the depositions.

Already it has been charged by George L. Remus from his murderer's cell in the Hamilton county jail that those responsible for the enforcement of law in Washington have been lax in meeting out justice to Franklin L. Dodge and Mrs. Imogene Remus.

Remus has charged that some one high in the office of the United States attorney general is responsible for the apparent immunity of Dodge and Mrs. Remus.

THIEVES LOOT GARAGE SAFE IN EAST END

Papers Stolen From Fidelity Company Left at Review Office.

ABOUT $15 TAKEN

Lawrence Cooperage Shop, Central Street, Robbed.

A bundle of papers, containing insurance policies and cancelled checks, stolen from the Fidelity Motor company's office, 1062 Pennsylvania avenue, last night, were found in the doorway of The Review-Tribune business office, where they had been discarded by the thief, at 7 o'clock this morning.

Written on the back of the bundle, held together by a rubber band, was this message: "All of your papers are included in this bundle." An employee of the newspaper office stumbled over the bundle which had been left between the screen and main door.

About $15 in money was taken from the Fidelity office safe, which was opened, police claim, by working the combination. A small amount of change was also stolen from the cash register which had not been locked.

Cut Hole in Door.

The thieves entered the garage through a window and then cut a hole in the door leading into the office, presumably with a penknife. The lock in the door was turned by the thief who reached through the hole.

Lawrence Cooperage shop, Central street, East End, was entered Tuesday night. Two leather belts, one five-inches wide and the other four inches wide, being taken, according to a report made to police today. Both were investigated by Patrolman William Lister.

Acting Chief of Police Conley today offered a reward of $25 for information leading to the arrest of the person who looted the Chambers department store, Mulberry street, and Mrs. Fannie Hoffrichter's ladies' furnishing store, First avenue, also on Tuesday night. About $1,250 worth of wearing apparel was taken.

MOTORIST FINED $100 AND COSTS

Charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated O. K. Johnson, Midland restaurant keeper, was fined $100 and costs when he appeared before Municipal Judge Hanley today. Johnson was arrested in lower Broadway late last night by Patrolman Leslie Curran.

Charles Carraher and John Mercer, arrested yesterday upon charges of being drunk and begging, were fined $50 and costs and ordered committed to the county jail by Judge Hanley.

REVIVAL CHIEF WILL BE GUEST AT CENTENNIAL OF METHODISTS

Evangelist Will Occupy Pulpit Tuesday, November 29.

RODY MAY COME

Fifth Street Church Plans One-week Celebration.

Evangelist William A. Sunday, Winona Lake, Ind., who conducted a six-week revival campaign here during the fall of 1912, will return to East Liverpool on Tuesday, November 29, to take part in the week's centennial celebration of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Rodeheaver Invited.

Sunday's acceptance of the invitation for a one-night engagement was contained in a telegram received by Dr. Joseph T. Williamson, chairman of the centennial program committee, yesterday. The invitation was extended when the Rev. R. B. Rodeheaver, evangelist visited Cleveland 10 days ago, by Dr. W. O. Hawling, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, Dr. Williamson and William T. McNutt, who conferred with his secretary.

Sunday opened a six-week campaign in West Frankfort, Ill., in the Herrin coal fields, last Sunday. He will come here immediately following the West Frankfort meetings. He will open another campaign in Chicago early in January.

The local committee has also invited Homer Rodeheaver, choir leader with Sunday during the East Liverpool meetings, to attend the celebration. Rodeheaver will rejoin the Sunday evangelistic party after the first of the year.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Catherine Cassler, sentenced to die here tomorrow on the Cook county gallows for the murder of William Lindstrom, was granted a stay of execution here today by Chief Justice William V. Brothers of the criminal court.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON MAY BE ENMESHED IN TRIAL OF GEORGE REMUS, BOOTLEG KING, FOR THE MURDER OF HIS WIFE

EN ROUTE FROM ATLANTA, Ga., TO WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—

That official Washington will become enmeshed in the Remus trial is the promise of Attorney Charles Elston and first assistant prosecutor Carl E. Basler who are touring twenty states seeking evidence that will be used for and against George Remus, former "king of the bootleggers" when he is tried for the killing of his wife, Imogene Remus, in Cincinnati next month.

A member of President Coolidge's cabinet, and many others high in the official life of Washington are expected to testify.

The cabinet member is Attorney General John H. Sargent. In addition, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general in charge of criminal prosecution, Edgar T. Hoover, chief of the department of justice, Dr. E. L. Doran, in charge of the nation's liquor forces, former prohibition commissioner David H. Blair, and many other minor officials have been subpoenaed and are expected to give important testimony.

Charge Immunity Bath.

According to Attorney Elston, the purpose of taking depositions from Sargent and others in Washington is to have advantage of the information gathered by Tom Wilcox, agent in charge of the Detroit office of the department of justice during the government's investigation of the activities of Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., former ace of the department of justice, and Imogene Remus.

Attorney Elston hopes to secure the acquittal of Remus if permitted to use the information contained in the depositions.

Already it has been charged by George L. Remus from his murderer's cell in the Hamilton county jail that those responsible for the enforcement of law in Washington have been lax in meeting out justice to Franklin L. Dodge and Mrs. Imogene Remus.

Remus has charged that some one high in the office of the United States attorney general is responsible for the apparent immunity of Dodge and Mrs. Remus.

Deposition Party on Way.

Whether or not testimony will be developed to prove these charges will be brought out during the Washington inquiry, is a matter of speculation.

It is believed that Attorney Elston will conduct his inquiry and attempt to establish as evidence the charges made by Congressman F. L. Laguardi who, during the last session of congress, alleged that the prosecution of the former department of justice ace and Mrs. Remus had been neglected by the government.

The deposition party will arrive in Washington late today from Atlanta, Ga., where important depositions were taken from Warden John W. Snook and United States district attorney of northern Georgia, Clint Hager.

It was learned from Attorney Elston that several new witnesses were uncovered by Remus' investigators in Atlanta, Ga., one of these witnesses, according to Attorney Elston, will prove conclusively the illicit relations of Mrs. Remus and her alleged lover, Dodge.

"CAT, CANARY" AT CERAMIC

Chicago Stock Company Presents Mystery Play Tonight.

Thrills, suspense, romance and fun crowd the three acts of "The Cat and the Canary," John Willard's famous mystery drama that proved an overnight sensational success in New York, which is to be presented at the Ceramic theatre tonight and Saturday matinee by the Chicago Stock company.

Through a maze of perils move a boy and a girl whose every step is followed with tense interest by the enthralled audience, while, as danger faces them, every other character in the play is under suspicion as to the perpetrator of the strange and creepy happenings around which the story is woven. Though the mystery is not solved until the fall of the final curtain the nerves of the on-lookers are never overstrung for there is constant relief in the most engaging, of love scenes and in highly humorous situations that turn the shivers of terror into shrieks of laughter.

Tomorrow matinee and night, the players will present Barry Condon's delightful comedy, "The Patsy," and elsewhere in this issue appears a coupon which will admit two ladies for the price of one at the special matinee performance. "The Patsy" Conners is the author of "Applesauce," a play presented here last season. The company's engagement will be concluded Saturday evening with a production of Irene Borden's famous New York success, "Naughty Childella."

JOHNNY HINES AT AMERICAN

"White Pants Willie," Hilarious Comedy, is Feature.

Johnny Hines will be the feature at the American theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday in his latest First National picture, "White Pants Willie," produced under the personal supervision of C. C. Burr. The picture is a screen adaptation of the Liberty Magazine serial story of the same name by the humorist, Elmer Davis.

A splendid cast of players appear in support of the comedian with Lella Hyams playing the leading feminine role. Others appearing prominently are Ruth Dwyer, Walter Long, Henry Barrows, Margaret Seddon, George Kuwa, and last but not least, Bozo, the educated goose.

"White Pants Willie" is said to abound in humorous sequences, one of the most hilarious being a fast polo match played by crack players with the comedian being mistaken for a polo champion, thrust into the game and forced to win or lose the girl. Naturally the comedian's white pants play an important role and supply moments of genuine humor, starting the picture off with a gale of laughter that doesn't cease until the final fade-out.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1927.

Register Tomorrow

New voters as well as persons who have neglected to enroll during the last three years, must register tomorrow or Saturday, in order to qualify for the right of suffrage in the fall election.

From 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. and 5 to 10 p. m. each day, registrars will be on duty in East Liverpool, the only registration city in Columbiana county, to enroll new electors and issue transfers to enfranchised citizens who have changed their places of residence since the August primaries.

Men and women who fail to qualify will be deprived of the privilege of a voice in the selection of municipal and township officers, municipal court clerk and board of education members, as well as the right to pass judgment on two city issues—the fire-works ban, which will be subjected to a referendum, and a proposed one-mill tax levy for fire department purposes—and two state proposals, the Marshall bill, placing village mayors and justices of the peace on a salary basis, and the initiative movement for the establishment of a chiropractors' licensing board.

Enroll tomorrow.

Those Terrible Instalments

The British minister of overseas trade is getting worried over the tendency of the British workman to copy the American in the matter of buying on the instalment plan. He says:

"Production and sale of motor cars, phonographs, radios, pianos and clothes on 'tick' is a trade system built on sand.

"When the inevitable cycle of depression comes round trade will collapse and bury in its ruins those who have produced on tick, sold on tick and bought on tick goods which neither earn their cost nor redeem themselves out of earnings."

He admits that in America the system can be indulged in because Americans have wealth to burn, but he thinks it is sure to make serious trouble for the British workman.

Perhaps he is right. And yet it is not possible that the family which buys the radio on time would have dissipated the same amount of money anyhow? That is really the point of which the thing turns. In America much of the money which now goes for luxuries of this kind used to go over the bar and down the gullet. The effects were just as bad on the finances, and worse for the health.

Many a family which never saved a cent before has started in buying a victrola or a flivver and found itself possessed of the instalment habit of buying something which can be seen and enjoyed. If they can buy a radio and live to tell the tale, they can buy a flivver. If a flivver, a lot, and if a lot, a house. Property accumulates in spite of them. Bonds come next, and behold the capitalist emerging out of the ne'er-do-well.

It strikes us as just possible that the man or woman on dole in Great Britain might perhaps be stimulated by desire to possess luxuries to do work which he cannot now be persuaded to do for necessities.

Channel Swimming

Swimmers of the English channel haven't aroused much enthusiasm lately. Obviously it can be done by persons with the right physique and endurance who are willing to go through the gruelling training and final toil necessary to accomplish the feat. But the truth of the old saying that what man has done before he can do again leads the average human being to say "what of it?" when difficult stunts are repeated over and over.

The woman who claims to have perpetrated a deliberate hoax by announcing she had conquered the channel has gained more publicity from confessing to that deception than she did with her first announcement. Yet even so she leaves the world somewhat cold and unresponsive. Besides the current photoplay, "Swim, Girl, Swim!" beat her to the idea by enough weeks so that it isn't even a novelty to know that watchers ashore can be fooled by swimmers.

Let the folks who want to swim the English channel just to prove to themselves that they are equal to that difficult task go ahead and do it to their hearts' content. But let them not expect us to do any more than give them casual congratulations.

Jointless Steel Bridges

Electric "arc-welding" wins a new victory. The Boston and Maine is going to build, at Chicopee Falls, Mass., a rivetless railroad bridge, the first of its kind. That bridge will go up, like Solomon's famous temple, without noise.

There are other merits, according to Gilbert D. Fish, structural engineer for the Westinghouse company.

"The bridge when completed," he says, "will be practically a one-piece structure, since every joint will be welded solid and immovable. Weaknesses due to innumerable joints and rivet holes are eliminated. As a result, the welded bridge is stronger than a riveted bridge would be, and it costs less. Only 80 tons of steel are needed for the welded job, whereas 120 tons would be necessary if the job were riveted."

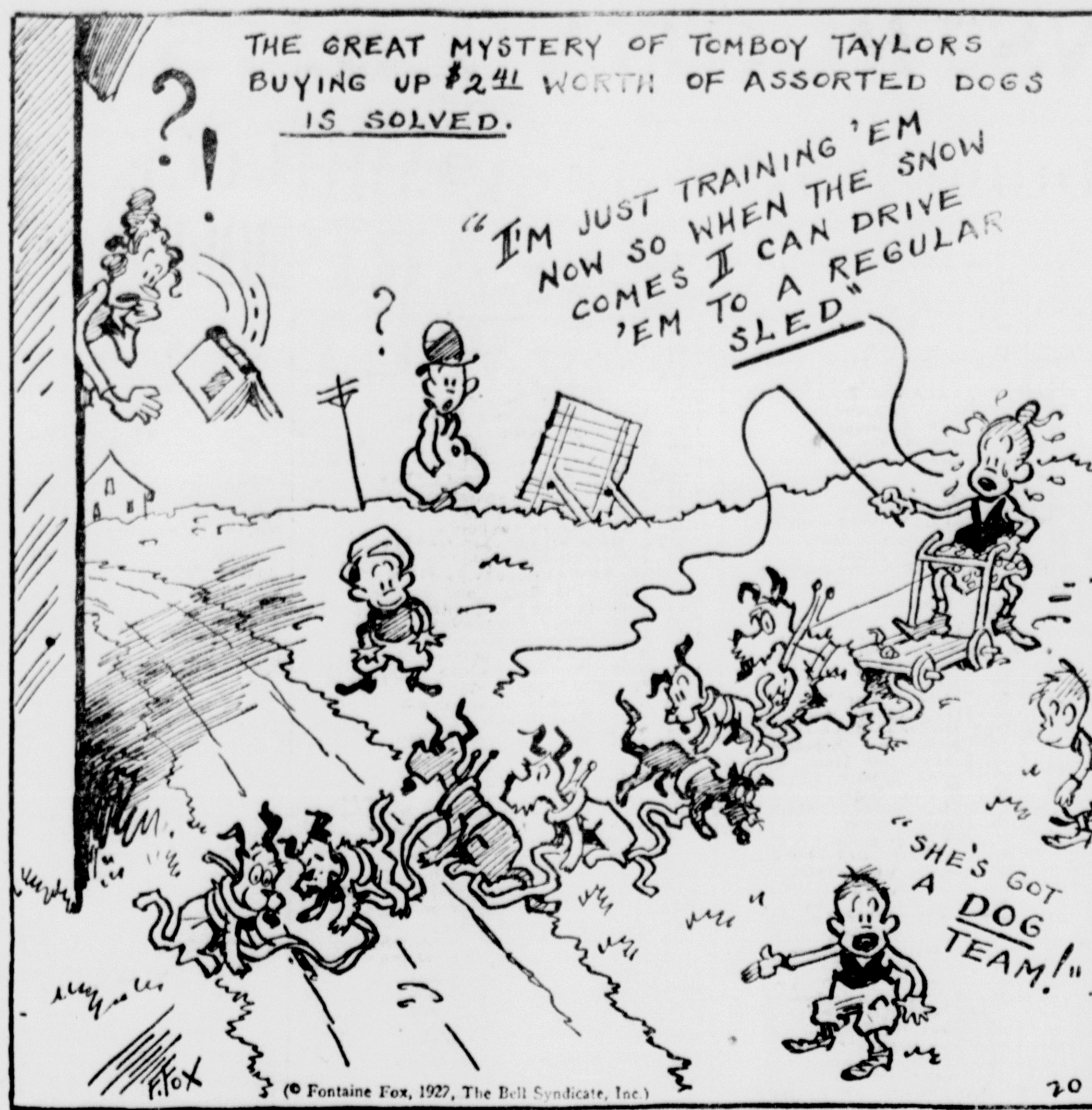

The rivet people will doubtless combat these statements—they always do. Meanwhile the wonderful process of arc-welding finds new uses all the time.

Maybe what Mexico needs just now is a little oil poured on the troubled waters.

Modern woman's garb," observes the Toledo Blade, "has more latitude than longitude." Goes up by degrees, too.

The lamentation about nobody staying at home nights is all lunk. There are about 15,000,000 radio sets in this country.

Tomboy Taylor—

By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Producers as well as performers are adopting a strictly broad A. manner toward impromptu cafe entertaining. Producers do not want stars thus exploited and artists see no reason why they should devote an evening out to amusing people free.

For several years it has been the custom of masters of ceremony and hostesses in cafes and supper clubs to flatter a visiting celebrity into doing a turn for mere glory of the thing. A number of producers have issued a thumbs down ukase to their hired help.

An entertainer like Al Jolson, for instance, receives more than $1,000 for a night's work, yet he as well as many of his professional brothers and sisters are frequently called upon to repeat the same performance in a place that does not even remove their cover charge.

One cabaret a few steps off Broadway owes enormous popularity to the ingenuity of the management in inviting guest stars and then sending them out to do their repertoire. Thus patrons see and hear a collection of top liners that would cost the management many thousands a week.

Recently a highly paid performer was spotlighted for a stunt after the theatre. He was visibly annoyed, but made a polite bow. The applause grew and holding up his hand for silence said: "If the management will give you everything you have had free, I will sing free." That ended that.

The truth is free stunts often cheapen performers in the eyes of the holders. No where is it so true that intimacy breeds a voluptuous contempt as in the stage world. Those who see a star free in a second-class cabaret are not going to pay $8 to see him in a first-class theatre.

Most performers are naturally gracious enough to respond to a friendly ovation with a bow and a smile. That is all that should be expected.

The meanest practical joke is reported in a midtown pool parlor. One of the patrons is a chronic inebriate who had become excessively irritating to genuine lovers of the game. The other night it was arranged to plunge the room into sudden darkness and go on playing as though nothing happened. In the black darkness balls rattled and a man playing with the drunk remarked: "The nine ball in the side pocket." The victim of the joke slumped to the floor in white-faced shock.

Abe Martin Says:

"She's either mean as hell, or having something sent home on approval," Lon Moon testified today, in his suit for separate maintenance. Heads or tails, the fur dealer always wins.

expenditures will be greatly increased. Flood control for the Mississippi Valley, more cruisers for the Navy, the five-year aircraft building program, increased pensions, and the soldiers' adjusted compensation will necessitate outlays of the public money at the coming session of Congress and the President does not want the tax reduction movement to gain too much headway before it is definitely known just what those outlays will aggregate.

What Business Interests Want. What the business interests of the country want, as shown by the specific recommendations submitted by the United States Chamber of Commerce for the approval of its 1500 member organizations, is that there be immediate reduction and repeal in federal taxes amounting to $400,000,000 in the first full year after the changes are made, and that the rate of corporate income tax applicable to net income of 1927 shall be not more than 10 per cent, and that Congress provide full opportunity for the Joint Congressional Tax Committee to perfect proposals for revision of federal tax laws and their administration.

Pointing out that during the last fiscal year the corporation income tax yielded revenue in excess of $1,300,000,000 or 32 per cent of the total taxes, while in addition state and local jurisdictions are also levying heavy toll on corporations, the taxation committee of the Chamber of Commerce says that not only has there been general discrimination against corporations in that all other tax rates have been reduced or eliminated since the war period, but there is a particular discrimination against corporations as compared with individuals and partnerships, even though the latter may be engaged in the same type of business and competing with corporations.

"Quite apart from any discriminations against corporations as compared to taxes levied on other sources," says the committee, "there is a strong argument for the reduction of the corporation income taxes on the grounds of business and industrial development and the general welfare of the country. The characteristic American method of doing business is by means of corporate organization. In manufacturing of all kinds, finance, transportation, communication, in fact in practically every kind of business activity, it is the corporations which are doing not only the great bulk of business, but are also the pioneers in developing new activities, increasing efficiency and reducing costs to the consumer. Any undue burdens placed on corporations either by taxation or otherwise are obstructing the development of one of the most important instruments of economic progress which have been developed.

"Probably no one thing does as much to simplify the federal tax situation as a reduction in rates. Moderate rates which reduce the hardships which might otherwise ensue no longer make necessary elaborate provisions for the relief of a taxpayer who finds himself in some unusual situation. Taxpayers and government officials both approach the matter in a manner most conducive to speedy agreement. Simplification of the income tax is generally regarded as one of the most pressing of federal tax reforms and there is no surer approach to the solution of this difficult problem than by the reduction of rates to a moderate level.

"While tax reductions are always acceptable to taxpayers, yet revenues must be sufficient to support the Government on a reasonable basis. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, the Federal Government not only paid expenses including the sinking fund of over $333,000,000 for the retirement of the national debt, but there was a huge surplus of over $625,000,000. Analysis of the pertinent facts indicates that the reduction of the corporate income tax to 10 per cent, with the repeal of the federal estate tax and the abolition of the war excess taxes on particular businesses could all be accomplished without interfering with the normal fiscal operations of the Government."

Tax reduction now should proceed to a point that will substantially absorb any potential Treasury surplus. It is argued by the business interests. Surpluses as large as those realized in recent years mean that more money is being taken from the taxpayer than is needed to meet the current expenses of the Government and while the peculiar uncertainties of the recent past may be held to have justified a wide margin of safety in estimates, no such justification now exists.

A large surplus is too much of a temptation to Congress, according to the proponents of tax reduction, while on the other hand a very potential restraining influence either on the legislature or the administration is the knowledge that there is no surplus and that heavy expenditure will mean either an increase in taxation or an actual deficit to be covered by the issuing of additional government obligations. A sound fiscal policy demands that tax rates be so reduced that there are no unnecessary amounts collected by the Government, the taxpayers being consistently allowed to absorb potential surpluses."

Thus the issue appears joined between two radically different policies. Business interest would wipe out the Treasury surplus and reduce revenues, and rely on that to check any congressional or administrative extravagances. President Coolidge would not reduce taxes until Congress has practiced the rigid economy that will justify and make safe a reduction in revenues.

MIDLAND IS CONSTRUCTING $175,000 SEWER SYSTEM

FUND BALANCE MAY PAY FOR INCINERATOR

Storm and Sewage Flow Thru Separate Lines.

READY JANUARY 1

Borough Voted Bond Issue of $206,000 Two Years Ago.

Midland will be one of the few cities of its size in Western Pennsylvania to have a complete drainage system, when the final link of the city's new storm sewer, under construction in Railroad lane, is constructed, borough officials said today.

The new system, covering entire city and costing approximately $175,000, will carry off waters from the heaviest rainstorms. Storm water will be drained in sewers separate from the sanitary system.

The new system probably will be ready for use early in January, according to Robert Lloyd, council president.

Two years ago, Midland voted a $206,000 bond issue to finance the project, but total cost of the sewer now is not expected to exceed $175,000, leaving a balance of $35,000 or more in the city's general fund.

Construction of a municipal garbage incinerator may be financed from the fund balance. The present disposal system is regarded as unsatisfactory.

Work on the new sewer was commenced 15 months ago by Angelo Cupani, Midland contractor. Outlet sewer, measuring 72 inches, will carry water from the tributary sewers through the grounds of the Crucible steel company into the Ohio River at a point one half mile west of dam No. 7.

Tributary sewers are located in Fourth street, emptying into the outlet sewer at Fourth street and Railroad lane; Sixth street; Park place east, and in Thirteenth street.

MIDLAND MAN'S NECK IS BROKEN

Oscar Keys, 35, Midland avenue, probably will recover, physicians said today, despite the fact that he has a broken neck, sustained when he was run over by a locomotive in the Crucible Steel company's yard.

When Keys was taken to Rochester hospital Sunday night, it was not believed that he suffered more than minor bruises. Later, X-ray examination showed a fractured fifth vertebra.

POMERENE LAUDS GOV. AL SMITH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Al Smith's boom for the presidency received support today from ex-Senator Pomerene of Ohio, one of the government counsel in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial.

In an article in the North American Review, Pomerene said that Smith's religion should be no bar to the White House.

"We are told that he is a Catholic," said Pomerene. "He admits it. What of it? Has his religion made him less honorable as a citizen or less capable as a governor?"

Pomerene declared there would be a great "wailing and gnashing of teeth" among Protestants if a Catholic or a Jew were to insist that no one should be eligible to high office unless he accepted Catholicism or Judaism.

KIWANIS O. K.'S MUSIC DRIVE

Rev. W. O. Hawkins, D. D., Speaks at Noon Luncheon.

Endorsement of the Civic Music Association membership campaign was voted by the Kiwanis club at the luncheon meeting in the Larkins' annex, Market street, at noon today.

Rev. Warren O. Hawkins, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, was the speaker. He was introduced by Olen H. Dawson.

The speaker lauded the underprivileged child movement.

"The touch of Kiwanis hand upon the shoulder of these unfortunate is a helping hand to all children," said Dr. Hawkins. "What is done for one child is done for all children."

"This is a day when single individuals don't count as much as they did yesterday. The bringing of men together so that they come to know each other is always a good movement."

"The Civil war was caused by the lack of understanding between the north and the south. There were few railroads connecting the two sections and residents of one section failed to understand the problems of the other."

Fall Defense Scores

"This question involves the good faith of Fall and I want to show that it was the policy of the interior to make these particular leases," he said.

Martin W. Littleton, chief Sinclair counsel, then entered the controversy.

Littleton Enters Controversy. There were claims for 32,000 acres in the Teapot dome reserve, and the charge has been made that there was fraud in taking up these claims before the government made a lease to Sinclair, he said. "These claims had to be taken up before a lease was made and this transaction was provided for under the law."

The defense contends that one reason why Sinclair obtained the lease was because he had secured the claims.

Sinclair paid about $1,000,000 for all the claims on Teapot Dome.

Being "Too Tired" Doesn't Pay.

A healthy person never feels constantly tired. Being "too tired" continually is a sign of something wrong. Watch the kidneys. A very able physician said, "When they are affected, life is in danger." If elimination is too frequent, or too scanty and burning, take FOLEY PILLS diuretic. W. K. Holland, Harlingen, Texas, says: "I bet that 90 per cent of sufferers from kidney irregularities never take anything until it is too late, whereas FOLEY PILLS diuretic would be a God-send to them." Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their systems. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

J. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Sally's Shoulders

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN," "HONEY LOU," "THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL," ETC.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Sally had never dreamed that her neat little kitchen could look the way it looked when she stepped inside of it that night.

It was ablaze with light, and it was in the wildest disorder imaginable. The sink strainer was piled high with coffee grounds, orange peel, bread crusts and egg shells. More egg shells lay on the floor under the sink. The waste basket had been tipped over and it spilled soiled papers out onto the linoleum.

A wet dish towel hung over the back of a chair. Another one was draped over the gas stove. Two frying pans, half-filled with cold grease, stood on the kitchen table. The drain board was stacked with dirty dishes. There was a splash of tomato catsup on the white wall beside the cupboard.

A soiled bungalow apron had been rolled into a ball and thrown upon the little shelf that held the kitchen clock. Hidden beneath it the clock ticked loudly, as if it were angry at thus being thrust out of sight.

Mrs. Jerome had been keeping house!

"Oh, my Aunt Tessie!" gasped Sally aloud, standing with her shoulders against the door, taking it all in. "What a mess!"

As she stood there another sound came to her quick ears—the sound of sobbing from the front part of the flat.

Like a flash Sally was across the untidy kitchen, across the dining room and into her mother's bedroom.

It was in darkness, but through the gloom that sound of mourning and distress came to her again.

She switched on a light.

Mrs. Jerome lay prone upon the unmade bed, her large heavy figure shaken with a storm of weeping. The bed creaked with it.

Tossing aside her coat and hat, Sally dropped to her knees beside the bed and put her arms around her mother's plump shoulders.

She tried to comfort her—tried to find out what was wrong. But Mrs. Jerome gave no sign that she ever heard her.

Sally had never known her to cry like this. She had often cried to get her own way, or when she was frightened about the pains that came from over-eating, or when she was upset about Beau or Millie.

But this was different. She cried in a despairing, broken-hearted sort of way, and Sally knew that there was some real cause for her grief this time.

Helpless for once, she sat back on her heels and waited for the storm to pass. And after 10 minutes or more, Mrs. Jerome's sobs became less violent. Presently she raised a tear-stained and swollen face.

"Your Papa—he's gone—again!" she gushed, sitting up and reaching for her handkerchief that lay on the bedside table. She wiped her brimming eyes with it before she went on in a shaky voice:

"I thought everything was going so nicely. I got his breakfast for him, and then we sat down and had a nice talk. After that I got lunch—the sandwiches you fixed, you know—She broke off, swallowed once or twice, and struggled for self-control. "After lunch we got dressed and went to the hospital to spend the afternoon with Millie. I was tired when we got home about 7 and I sat down to read a little bit in 'The Princess Dagomar,' never thinking but what you'd be home soon to fix up the house and get supper."

"I telephoned—but no one answered," Sally cut in. "I would have come home at six, but Mr. Nye wanted me to work overtime for him, and what could I do but say 'yes'? He's been so good to Millie and to me, too."

Mrs. Jerome looked at her coldly, and Sally saw that, in some way of her own, she had figured it out that Sally was to blame for whatever misfortune had just occurred in the little home.

"You knew you should have been home at 7 she said, accusingly, and then ran on with her story:

"Well, along about half past seven or so, your father came into the sitting room where I was—and would you believe it?—he had his bag all packed and in his hand! 'I'm going,' he said. 'Everything's just the way it used to be—no meals ready, no beds made, the house the same old pig pen it always was. I'm going back where I came from. And with that he walked out on me just the way he did nine years ago!'"

She covered her face with her handkerchief again and rocked to and fro in her very real agony.

Sally watched her for a minute or two. Sally saw that there was nothing for her to do. . . . After all, no one of use can do anything in the face of the big misfortunes that come to those we love. Real trouble has to be conquered alone, always.

So, after a bit, Sally got up and left her.

The door of the room her father had spent the night in stood open. Within the bed was unmade, the ash-tray still filled with cigar bands and ashes, the floor littered with papers. In the bathroom the same chaos reigned. The bath mat, still damp and wrinkled, lay on the floor. The tub had not been scrubbed out. Nor had the wash bowl, and on the mirror above it was a large smudge of lather from shaving soap.

On the table in the dining room lay the dried-up remnants of the ham sandwiches and four soiled napkins. The sitting room wasn't so bad, but it was dusty and it did not have the fresh, clean look that it should have had. As Sally stood looking down mournfully at the pale-pink blossoms of her begonia plant her mother came up behind her and spoke once more with extreme bitterness.

"Of course there must be a woman behind all this," she said. "No man leaves his wife just because a meal isn't on time. . . . There must always have been a woman in this case. Somebody that your papa cares for more than he cares for me and his children."

Sally wondered. . . . She thought about the men she knew. They all seemed to love order and comfort. All of them—Mr. Peevey, with his mid-day lunch that had to be served to him on the dot, John Nye, with his appreciation of her neat work and her gift of sandwiches. Even Ted, who managed to wear clean linen every day, although he wore his suits until they became shiny and out-of-date.

Yes, men were neat, orderly animals, and Sally could well believe that her father had told the unkind truth when he walked out of his wife's happy-go-lucky, lazy, careless life.

But she did not say so.

She saw that her mother wanted to think that another woman had stolen him from her—that she did not want to blame herself for the thing that had happened. Poor little helpless Mother! So unable to manage things and make a go of them!

"Let's forget all about it, dearest," she said tenderly. "We'll get along together, you and I. Don't you worry." And her mother clung to her as if she were the one safe and solid thing in a world that was slipping away from her. Sally felt her tears on her cheeks and kissed them away.

On the last day of October Mr. Peevey told Sally that he was going to close his office on the last day of November.

He told her just as he was leaving late in the gray, rainy afternoon. And after he was gone, Sally sat at her desk, staring at the ground glass pane of the door that led into the hall.

Through that pane she seemed to see John Nye at work in his office across the hall, as she had seen him so often. His dark head bent over his task, his long, fine fingers drumming on the desk or nervously fiddling with a lead pencil. Her heart seemed to close around the thought of him.

Moved by one of those strong, irresistible impulses that come to people only a few times in all their lives, she stood up and walked across the hall to his door. She had no idea of what she wanted to say to him. She simply felt that she had to see him.

Miss Kriss, his near-sighted office girl, sat alone, busily tapping on her typewriter. She stopped work and glanced up as Sally came in.

"Mr. Nye isn't here," she said, as she saw Sally's eyes go straight to the door of the private office. "He's going out to a dinner party tonight, and he left early. I think he was going to stop in at Bethlehem hospital on his way home."

Bethlehem hospital! Where Millie, almost well now, lay waiting for him, surrounded by his roses.

"I see," said Sally, dully. And whatever she might have said to him died in her heart, then and there. The eager light in her eyes went out, too, as Miss Kriss might have seen if she had not been so near-sighted, poor thing.

"I must have been crazy to go over there at all," thought Sally, when she was back in the quiet safety of Mr. Peevey's office. "Thank heaven that he wasn't there! Goodness knows how

"FREE LOT" PLAN HIT BY STATE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.—Warning that no real estate broker or salesman who continues the practice of "free lot" schemes will be granted a state license to engage in the real estate business in Ohio was issued here today by the state board of real estate examiners. The board declared that "there will be a swift revocation of the licenses of those now licensed who continue such business practices."

"These practices have been bringing the real estate business into disrepute," reads a statement issued by the board. "Those of the public least able to lose their meager earnings are being mulcted and defrauded and the indiscriminate and unrestrained plating of farm lands into small lots far from the city limits, with no prospects of early development will be a handicap to the proper and normal growth of our metropolitan areas."

Grayhound races were seen by 100,000 spectators at the White City, London, on a recent Saturday night.

Before Mingo discontinued football early last season, the scrap between the Jefferson countians and the locals was an annual affair, the Orange and Black advancing in recent years to the point where they began to play the game with the Mingoans on an equal basis.

Klink's eleven, improving noticeably since the first game of the season, should hand the down-river aggregation a defeat, unless breaks of the game decide otherwise.

The squad, as a whole, is in good shape and ready to go.

Only Buick has an engine Vibrationless beyond belief

BUICK'S remarkable freedom from vibration is due primarily to three vitally important factors. First—the inherent smoothness of the Buick Valve-in-Head six-cylinder engine. Second—rubber engine mountings, front and rear. And third—the scientific and almost perfect balance of the entire Buick crankshaft assembly.

These factors, in turn, have been made possible by Buick principles of design, Buick facilities of research and experiment; and Buick's unrivaled experience in the manufacture of two million quality motor cars.

Only Buick enjoys these advantages. And only Buick provides the silken performance—the unvarying smoothness at all speeds—the longer life and greater serviceability of an engine vibrationless beyond belief.

Money Saving Facts About Concrete Highway Pavements

Concrete is durable. It will not shove, roll or rut. It remains as true and even as built. Concrete pavement is now satisfying taxpayers in many counties and every state in the Union. Maintenance cost is low. It does not require periodic resurfacing. Wet or dry, concrete provides the safest surface for traffic. Oil drippings will not cause concrete to disintegrate. Concrete pavements are clean, smooth, dustless, free from stickiness and usable twelve months in the year. 6,000 miles of concrete pavement were placed on highways in the United States in 1926. Concrete gives you more road surface value for each dollar invested than any other type.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S.S.S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S.S.S., I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S.S.S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I can not praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

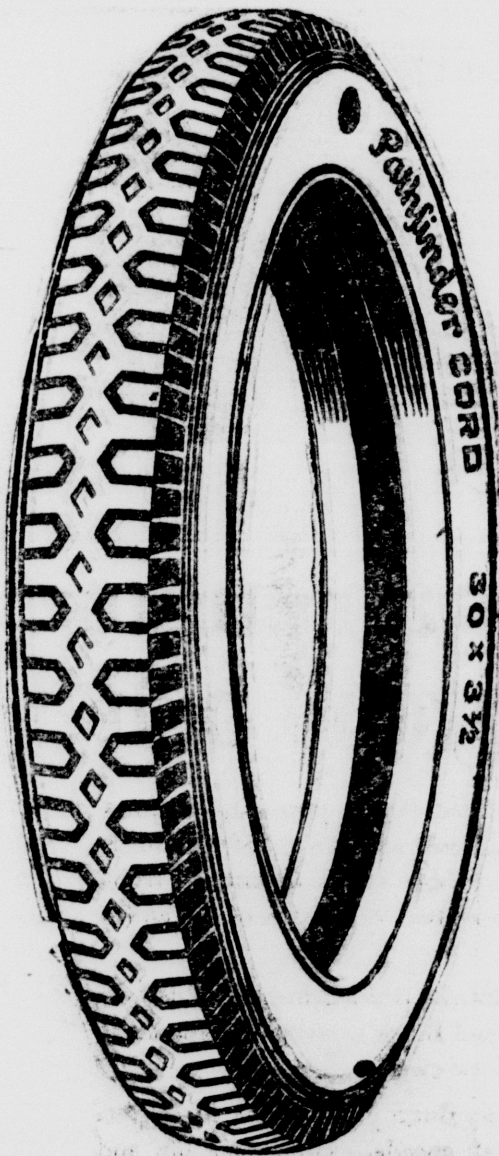

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

LIQUOR FINES TOTAL $7,250

United States District Court Disposes of 120 Cases.

During the past two days liquor law violators have paid into the treasury of the United States $7,250 as a result of fines imposed by Judge William E. Baker in the United States district court at Wheeling. Approximately 120 cases were cleared from the docket in the first two days of the session.

Admitting conspiracy to rob express shipments in interstate commerce, two Wheeling men and a young woman were sentenced by Judge William E. Baker.

Henry Cassell Hayes, veteran employee of the American Railway Express company, was given a year and a day in the federal prison at Atlanta; William Kruck, Jr., also an employee of the American Railway Express company, drew nine months in the Ohio county jail, while Mrs. Beatrice Virginia Kruck, wife of William Kruck, Jr., was given four months in the Ohio county jail.

All three of the defendants have been in jail since July 28, waiting the opening of the court term. In view of this fact Mrs. Kruck was given credit for three months because of the time she has spent in jail, and will serve but 30 days of the sentence imposed yesterday.

They were the only ones of the defendants indicted by the federal grand jury to be arraigned.

Two indictments were returned against them, charging that they conspired to take from express shipments silks, lingerie, stockings and other women's apparel. A large quantity of the stolen goods were found in the Kruck home when the officers searched the place. Among the loot found was 50 pair of silk stockings.

The thefts have extended over a long period of time, the indictments alleged. New York firms were the shippers, and had representatives here as witnesses before the grand jury which returned the indictments. Wheeling firms were the consignees.

COUNTY COUNCIL OFFICERS NAMED

At the recent convention of the County Council of Religious Education in the Pughstown Presbyterian church the following officers were elected: President, Jesse McGowan, Holliday's Cove; vice president, O. E. Headsett, Holliday's Cove; secretary, Miss C. M. Shukula, Holliday's Cove; children's superintendent, Mrs. G. E. Lewis, Chester; young people's director, L. F. LICENSE PLATES READY ON NOV. 1

Automobile license plates will be ready for distribution November 1, according to an announcement made yesterday by the state road commission. Attention is called to a new possible source of delay for motorists in getting plates because of the failure of many to comply with requests that they fill out what is referred to as "pink" application blanks.

These were issued after the fire which destroyed road commission records and were duplicates of the original title application blanks and were designed to restore the records. Certificates of title numbered above 256,000 are not affected.

To avoid delay the commission urged early receipts of application for the 1928 plates, after November 1.

I would have explained my rushing in, if he had been there! I guess it will be a good thing for me to get away from this building next month. I'm losing my common sense around this place!"

That night when she turned into Trellis street the first thing she saw was Beau's fiery red car standing before the house.

It was then that she remembered that tomorrow would be the first of the month and that he and Mabel had arranged to give up their flat on that day.

When she went upstairs she found that they had not waited for the first, but had moved in already. Their trunk stood in the hallway outside Beau's old room, and within they were hard at work unpacking their suit-cases.

"Isn't it lovely to have Beau at home again?" Mrs. Jerome wanted to know when Sally went into her room to ask what she would like for her supper.

Sally said nothing. She loved Beau with all her heart, but she was not the least bit sure that it was a good thing for him to be living at home now that he was married. She hoped for the best, and secretly feared the worst.

But Mrs. Jerome had no such misgivings. Sally had not seen her so light-hearted since the departure of her husband, two weeks before.

"It's so nice to have a man at the head of the table again," she cooed, beaming upon him like a round-faced sun as he carved the pot-roast at supper time.

"Well, I'm glad to be here, Mother," answered Beau grandly, as if he were doing them all a great favor by coming back home to live.

"I wonder what Millie will say when she knows about it," thought Sally, anxiously. "I'm afraid she won't be very happy when she finds that Beau and Mabel have taken her room away from her."

She was pretty sure that there would be fireworks when Millie did find it out, as a matter of fact.

And her eyes were full of shadow as she watched Beau back the meat to pieces with a clumsy knife. Beau did not know anything about carving. But he thought he did. He thought very well of himself, most of the time. And Mrs. Jerome helped him out.

Care of Babies

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. And it is so pleasant to take. Taste it yourself, and you'll know why "Children Cry for it."

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic; or when you even suspect the approach of constipation; or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. See how quickly all fretfulness or wakefulness will cease!

Only one word of warning: the above advice is true of genuine Castoria. The kind called Fletcher's Bearing Fletcher's signature is genuine—and does not contain opiates or any other drug that can harm the baby. Other preparations may be just as free from harm; the writer does not know as to that, but does know one family whose children will never make the experiment!

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

Care of Babies

Why do so many many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. And it is so pleasant to take. Taste it yourself, and you'll know why "Children Cry for It."

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic, or when you even suspect the approach of constipation, or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. See how quickly all fretfulness or wakefulness will cease!

Only one word of warning: the above advice is true of genuine Castoria. The kind called Fletcher's bearing Fletcher's signature is genuine—and does not contain opiates or any other drug that can harm the baby. Other preparations may be just as free from harm; the writer does not know as to that, but does know one family whose children will never make the experiment!

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

Toronto Grid Team, Fans in Special Cars

Smith Lines up Subs for Emergency Cases.

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—Thirty-three reservations have been received for the special cars to carry Toronto football fans to the high school game at East Liverpool where "Chic" Smith's Gem City lads clash with Joe Hurst's Porters.

As the band and the team will number about 50 this means that only about 20 more can be carried on the special cars which leave here at 1 p. m. and arrive in East Liverpool at about 2 p. m.

Both teams came out of Saturday's games without any serious injuries and both won by big scores.

BIFF JONES REVAMPS CADETS' OFFENSIVE

Stresses Forward Pass and Discards 1926 Weapons as Result of Havoc Worked by New Ruling on Shift Plays.

By Malcolm Roy.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 20.—One of the big enigmas of the present football season is the Army eleven. There is no doubt that Biff Jones has been doing a lot of hard work with his veteran material but the returns have been coming in slowly and what little the Army has shown in action has been more or less contradictory. But the riddle should be answered after the Cadets take the field against Yale in their annual clash in the bowl of Saturday afternoon.

Like Notre Dame, the Army employed the shift very extensively in its offense in other years and the rule requiring a stop of a full second before the ball has been passed appears to have worked havoc with the West Pointers' attack.

This was never better illustrated than in the battle with Davis-Elkins last week. The southern eleven, to be sure, was nobody's set-up, but the Army had real trouble in uncorking a scoring punch until the final period when the sturdy Davis-Elkins line had been pounded into a pulp by the superb West Point forwards. Then it was easy for the Army backs to pile up the touchdowns that brought victory by a comparatively big score.

Changes its Attack.

The Army has revamped its attack to such an extent that it has retained few features easily recognizable as basic plays of the 1926 season. Most important apparently is the stress that Jones is placing on the forward pass now. It will be recalled a year ago the Army used the pass little, if at all. But Jones seems to have restored the pass to its old time place of importance because it was trotted out a good many times against Davis-Elkins and used in a way that indicated that Jones was determined to employ it in the big game to come.

With the team that he has at his disposal Jones should take the Army far along the championship road. The backfield is without doubt one of the best and certainly is the most experienced in the country with Harry Wilson, one time Penn State star, playing his seventh year of varsity football. Meehan at quarterback is not the best field general in the world but in Merrill and Cagle, the other regular component parts of the backfield, the Army has a wonderfully powerful pair. Cagle is a dangerous man every time he gets his hands on the ball.

Gibner, Piper, Nave, Hutchinson and O'Donnell are the understudies and they all measure up close to the regulars. Jones has a line well up to West Point standards. It is heavy and charges with terrific force. Incidentally it is well fortified with reserves. Sprague and Perry stand out as the best tackles the Army has had in some time. Hall at center and Hammack and Seeman at the guards give the center of the line the power of a battering ram on attack and are dependable on defense. There are at least two good players in reserve for each regular between the tackles.

Improve Offensive.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Colgate's coaches are preparing for Wabash by improving the offensive attack. Defensive work is not being featured as very little is known of Wabash.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

RAINBOWS FOR MEN.

Bristol red, sunshine yellow, Black Hills blue and some other colors are announced as new shades for men's suits. Why not? Why must man somberly clothe himself in drab and let woman get away with all the beauty in the world in her raiment? We are too much the creatures of habit—habit without a real purpose behind it. It might add to the harmless gaiety of our lives if we had the courage to wear brighter colors.

CROPS.

More good news from the figure makers. Crops for 1927 are reported better than for 1926. Corn is fair in the west and poor in the east. Wheat is good in part of the country and fair elsewhere. If somebody between the farmer and the city dinner table doesn't make too much money, we may have lower food prices. As it is food prices are lower than they were a few years ago. In the midst of much to criticize let's take time to be grateful for a thing now and then.

SAPPODILS.

Sappodil is a new word and a good one. It is a combination of sap and daffodil. Sap is a fool or nearly a fool. A sap who is pleasant and agreeable and an easy mark at the same time is a sappodil. He is gentle, like a daffodil, but he doesn't amount to much. To be a "good fellow" unless it helps somebody who needs help or achieves a distinctly worth while result is not worth the effort. Too many "good fellows" are what they are simply because they haven't the courage to be anything better.

SPEEDING UP.

If you don't believe the world is changing, note the proposed law in Cook county, Illinois, where Chicago is located. Commissioners are considering a resolution to set a minimum of 20 miles an hour for motor cars on main highways. You have to move faster whether you want to or not. The old world lingers less—and is less happy as loitering goes out of fashion.

JUDGE IS RIGHT.

A Wisconsin judge refused a for-eigner his citizenship papers because the man had been convicted of driving an auto when drunk. He will have to wait five years more for his next naturalization process. This is a wise judge. A man who will equip himself for murder by driving an auto when he is drunk ought to wait in jail until citizenship papers are granted. And then he ought not to get them.
